

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY

It is my pleasure to extend an invitation to you and your delegation to visit Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. to participate in a short-term International Executive Program conducted by the Center for Intercultural Education and Development, July 10 – July 14, 2006. The one-week program will provide an intensive academic introduction to the governmental and business structures in the United States and their relationship to the development of trade and commercial enterprise worldwide.

Georgetown University is an internationally renowned teaching and research institution. Distinguished faculty combine scholarship and professional experience as diplomats, public health officials, economists, authors and scientists. Located in close proximity to the nation's government and international institutions, it attracts faculty and students from all parts of the country and the world.

You will feel welcomed at our university and enjoy the manifold educational and social opportunities available on campus and in Washington, D.C. We look forward to seeing you in Washington in July.

Sincerely,

Chantal Santelices

Chantal Santelices
Director, Center for Intercultural Education and Development (CIED)
Georgetown University